

THIRTY DEAD IN CRASH OF FAST TRAINS

OVER FORTY INJURED

Two Sections of Chicago to Buffalo Flyer and Twentieth Century Limited Crash in Fog, Causing Horrible Slaughter.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Cleveland, March 29.—At least thirty persons were killed—the exact total may not be known until nightfall—and more than forty injured in a wreck early today of three of the New York Central's crack passenger trains, a mile west of Buffalo, N. Y.

When the total of dead and injured is finally ascertained the wreck will surpass in cost of life and limb the wreck of the Twentieth Century Limited at Mentor in 1904, when the famous train piled into a freight on the second trip of the New York-Chicago twenty hour run.

The body of one fireman badly crushed was found on top of the boiler of one of the engines.

Some of the members of the crews of the three trains involved in the wreck escaped with scratches and bruises.

Robinson, Toledo, engineer of the Twentieth Century Limited, crashed and uninjured from under his engine, after it had plunged 400 feet along the track.

His fireman, Walter Mann, Toledo, who was the conductor, M. V. Burt, Buffalo, also were unhurt.

John Keller, conductor of second section of No. 58, and Frank Bunnell, in charge of first section, had other unimportant members of the crew assisted in caring for injured passengers and clearing the wreckage.

Three Trains Crash. The three trains in the wreck were sections of train No. 56, east bound, Chicago to Buffalo, and the Twentieth Century Limited, west bound, Buffalo to Chicago, running from New York to Chicago.

The first body taken from the wreckage was that of Rev. Gustav Wally, pastor of the First Evangelical Lutheran church, Detroit. He lived at 53 Thaddeus street, Detroit.

The second section of Chicago-Buffalo crashed into the first section in a heavy fog, when the first section stopped to take water.

The Twentieth Century Limited, west bound, crashed through the wreckage of train No. 56, which had been hurled to west bound track by the collision.

Most of the dead were in the rear coaches of the first section of the Chicago-Buffalo Flyer.

The dead were found in rear coaches of the first section of the Chicago-Buffalo Flyer, which buckled over on the Twentieth Century's right of way and was splintered by that train.

Most of the dead foreigners, it was said, had been taken from the wreckage of the first section of the Chicago-Buffalo Flyer.

There are no dead among the passengers of the Twentieth Century Limited, although a number of passengers were badly hurt on this train.

Two coaches of the Twentieth Century were overturned. The low casualties in the Twentieth Century are attributed to the fact that the palace train was proceeding slowly because of a heavy fog.

The second section of the flyer was going at a high rate of speed when it crashed into the first section.

Many of the bodies probably will go to their graves unidentified.

Most of those killed were asleep in rear coaches of the first section of train No. 56 at the time of the crash.

The bodies of many of the scarcely clad victims are so horribly mangled that identification without guidance of their clothing will be impossible.

Bodies Horribly Mangled. Some of the victims were decapitated. Arms, legs and portions of human bodies were scattered thickly through the wreckage. Relief parties collected the remains of three bodies—those of a woman and two men—dead and unidentifiable in one basket.

Other identified dead are Walter B. Reynolds, Detroit; Frank Gallager, Brooklyn; Doris Rosenberg, New York; Albert Fritzsche, Cleveland; and a Toledo sleeper of the first section who escaped injury. He helped in the rescue work.

Arsonist Ray, Pittsburgh, said he was captured from his cell at the time the crash came, and thus escaped injury.

Communism, Pittsburgh, coming from the wreckage before he could be taken to the hospital, was taken to the hospital. He also saw a man whose arms had been torn from their sockets.

Death List Near Thirty. When the last named three left only thirty of the forty occupants of the train were accounted for. They were the number of dead at between twenty and thirty. According to reports from the first section, it took five minutes after it left Buffalo, and was just picking up speed when the first crash came. Two minutes later they said the second crash occurred.

Government to Investigate. Washington, March 29.—H. W. Belmont, chief of the division of safety of the interstate commerce commission, will leave Washington today to investigate the Lake Shore wreck near Cleveland. George E. Ellis of the division of safety, stationed at Chicago, and A. McAdam, stationed at Pittsburgh, already are enroute for the wreck.

Wreck on Burlington. Macon, Ill., March 29.—Three persons were injured today when the Chicago and Quincy passenger train No. 3 ran into a open switch at one of here. The entire train was derailed, the engine, mail and baggage cars toppling over in a ditch.

HORSE SHIP SHELLED AND THEN TORPEDOED

AFFIDAVITS OF THREE AMERICANS RECEIVED ON SINKING OF SHIP ENGLISHMAN.

ATTEMPTED TO ESCAPE

Indicate That Submarine Was Within the Law in Torpedoing Vessel Which Refused to Heed Warning.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Washington, March 29.—The British horse ship Englishman was first shelled and then torpedoed by a German submarine, according to affidavits made to representatives of the state department at Liverpool by three American survivors.

Following the receipt of this information today, officials said it seemed clear that the Englishman had tried to escape. The submarine was operating within the law in shelling and torpedoing the Englishman if the vessel refused to heed a warning, as is inferred by officials here from the dispatch.

The German government has been asked whether any of its submarines were involved in the sinking of the Englishman or the damaging of the British channel steamer Sussex while that ship was carrying twenty-five American passengers.

While it is noted that the case of the Englishman may not lead to difficulties between the United States and Germany if it is proved she was escaping, overnight dispatches to the state department from American officials said, to bear out previous allegations that the Sussex was torpedoed.

Affidavits by Americans. Washington, March 29.—Affidavits at Liverpool from three American survivors of the British horse ship, Englishman, are to the effect the vessel was shelled and then torpedoed by a German submarine, according to affidavits received today at the state department from the American embassy in London.

The fact that the vessel was shelled, the affidavits state, was believed she might have tried to escape.

Statements secured from American survivors of the channel steamer Sussex by the American consular agent at Liverpool, said, "The vessel was shelled and then torpedoed, and the survivors were taken to the hospital."

U. S. CAVALRY PRESSES HOT AFTER VILLA

BANDIT FLEES SOUTHWARD SEEKING REFUGE AMONG FRIENDLY TARAHU. MARE INDIANS.

HEADS FOR MOUNTAINS

Having Evaded American Forces He Will Recruit Marauding Bands to Operate From Hiding Place, Carranza Officials Say.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

El Paso, March 29.—The chase of the brigand, Villa, by the flying columns of the American cavalry, goes relentlessly on, but from the meagering of official dispatches from General Pershing's advanced base, it was impossible to learn today the position of the American troops and how far they were in the chase of the bandit.

Villa was last heard of heading southward toward the Tarahumara mountain country, his command driven by their Mexican ponies at full speed and being closely pressed by the American troops.

Loss Track of Bandit. Commanders of Carranza troops now in Chihuahua region apparently have lost track of Villa and his men, for no report has been received by Mexican officials here for some time concerning Villa's whereabouts. Armed bandits of Villa's forces are reported in various parts of Chihuahua and in some numbers around Torreon, but they are operating independently of the main Villa command.

Plans Marauding Campaign. Carranza officials think Villa will then engage in a marauding campaign, that would give the American and Carranza forces no end of trouble. Army officers here do not believe the American cavalry will make a stand and fight the American cavalry.

FORCE BACK A NEW DRIVE UPON VERDUN

ASSAULT ON POSITIONS WEST OF THE MEUSE FAILS BEFORE VALIENT FRENCH DEFENSE.

FRENCH HOLD VILLAGE

Assault on Positions West of the Meuse Fails Before Valient French Defense.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Paris, March 29.—After six days' lull, the Germans resumed the offensive at Verdun yesterday with redoubled violence. The latter to hide their plans, they had for a week been shelling the whole Verdun front impartially, but the French staff expected the attack would come on the west side of the Meuse, and made due preparations. The German effort was confined to a section half a mile in width between Avocourt and Malancourt. The artillery poured a hail of shells on this line all morning, in preparation for the infantry attack which was launched at three o'clock in the afternoon. The attacking masses dashed forward, apparently expecting an easy victory. They reckoned, however, without French infantry and French light artillery, which had been skillfully sheltered from the bombardment.

Fail to Take Village. The French infantry held off the Germans with rifle and machine gun fire, while the 75's threw a curtain of shells which prevented reserves from approaching. Again the grey coated waves surged forward, only to be driven against the stout resistance of the village of Malancourt, which the Germans already held. They failed completely. It is affirmed.

French troops made an attack last night on Avocourt wood, west of the Meuse, where the German assault was made yesterday. The official statement says the French carried a part of the works which the Germans had constructed. The Germans made a fierce counter attack, but were driven back with heavy losses. They made no further effort to recover the lost ground.

The recent German attack upon Malancourt was made with a fresh attack, which was thrown back with heavy losses.

Frank P. Rich Believed to Have Met Death Instantly in Gas Explosion Which Destroyed Building.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Sharon, Wis., March 29.—A gas explosion at 5:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon wrecked the village power plant and killed Frank P. Rich, the superintendent. The building burst into flames immediately after the explosion and was totally destroyed, the efforts of the fire department to check the flames being futile.

As a result of the explosion the village is without gas and electricity today, and the water supply is limited to the amount in the reservoir, estimated to be sufficient for several days. The plant is owned and operated by the village and is valued at about $10,000. The loss is covered by $8,500 insurance.

It is believed that Superintendent Rich was working in the gasoline room at the time the explosion occurred, the gas being manufactured from gasoline. It took Rich a few minutes to get to the plant since the first of January, coming to this place from Appleton, Wis. He has a wife and three daughters living at Appleton, who have been informed of his death.

Efforts will be made to equip a temporary plant as soon as possible so that the water supply may be sufficient. Conditions are serious, since the arrival of a few shells, and the water supply in the standpipes cannot last longer than two or three days.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.) Madison, March 29.—Although the executive office claims there is no information to give out over the contemplated resignation of Chairman Halford Erickson of the railroad commission, it is known that the government's agents are interviewing prominent men in the state who might be the best persons to succeed Mr. Erickson. It is now certain that Erickson's resignation will not take effect on April 1, but that it will be effective before the end of the month. Erickson has been laid on the chairman to resign with the commission to dispose of several important cases pending.

BRITISH MAY STOP AMERICAN PICTURES

Nine Tenths of all Films Shown in England are American.—Urge That Yankee Films be Prohibited.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London, March 29.—There is renewed discussion of the proposal that the government prohibit importation of moving picture films, both as a means of national economy and as a step toward building up home industry in the "movie" field.

Nine-tenths of all the films shown in England are imported from the United States and France. It is estimated that the trade with American film producers sends to the United States no less than $10,000,000 a year, thus helping to build up a foreign trade balance against Great Britain and taking much gold out of the country.

England is taking to her economies reluctantly and there is a wide divergence of views as to the moving picture, or "cinema" theatres as they are called here. Several of the leading London newspapers are advocates of the ban against the imported film and have grown outspoken in their denunciation of the American product in particular. While admitting that some of the picture productions from the United States are of high quality, they state that "Rattlesnake Pete," "Broncho Bill," and other "cow person" dramas predominate in the American field and are "quite unintelligible to our people."

But the American "movie" has staunch friends and it is asserted that if American productions were barred the theatres throughout the British Isles would be forced to turn to the English productions which could not begin to fill the demand and it is said the industry never could grow to great proportions here because the light and atmospheric conditions cannot compare to those in California and other parts of the United States. Those in opposition to the film importation, however, claim that Great Britain can lead the world in this industry as in many others.

There are about 5,000 moving picture theatres in the Kingdom and their billboards all proclaim American films as the best. Most of the American film stars have their distinctive followings in England.

In urging that American films be barred, the influential London Times says: "We are buying American films to the extent of $10,000,000 at a time when there are only two legitimate objects on which British money should be spent."

"One of these objects is the promotion of victory in the field; the other, which is closely allied, is the promotion of a sound national spirit in the people at home. The importation of American films, so far from promoting either of these objects, is a direct obstacle to both. Nor do these films, obtained at such cost, promote the national well-being. The majority of them are concerned with little that is of good report, for they portray an atmosphere of crime and intrigue and back-stairs humor in the crude colors of a sham romance."

The importers of American films have suggested to the producers in the United States that all amounts received in London, less office and other expenses, be placed in a fund to be invested in Exchequer bonds or war loans and placed with the bank of England under an undertaking that they shall not be sold until six months after the war. Such an arrangement they point out would be in the interest of national economy which is the reason for the threat to bar foreign films.

ARMY TERMS AND WHAT THEY MEAN

Close Perusal Will Make It Easier to Follow the News of the Day.

With regiments, brigades and divisions being the chief topic in print these days the public is little aware of what they really mean so far as strength is concerned. A regiment of infantry war strength, consists of 51 officers and 1,835 men. (In the military the commissioned officers are always referred to as officers, while non-commissioned officers, privates, cooks, musicians and artificers are known as men.) The strength of regiments of other branches are in round numbers, cavalry 1,250; field artillery, both light and horse, 1,150; field artillery, heavy, 1,240; field artillery, mountain, 1,100. A brigade consists of three regiments while a division has nine regiments of infantry, one of cavalry, two of artillery, a battalion of engineers, a battalion of signal troops, ammunition train, supply train, four ambulance companies, four field hospitals.

Of the units smaller than a regiment, a company consists of three officers and 150 men, four companies constituting a battalion, the latter being commanded by a major, while a colonel commands the regiment.

The Staff
On his staff the adjutant, supply officer (formerly the quartermaster and commissary, now merged into one), chaplain and inspector of small arms practice. Of the adjutant the Militia Manual says, "his principal duty is to know things; he must know what others do not. He must be conversant with all war department, camp and regimental orders affecting the regiment. He must be willing to answer questions all day long and be able to answer them correctly. He must be familiar with army paper work; in fact he should be authority on subject in his regiment. * * * In camp he should know where other organizations are encamped, from whom the regiment gets supplies, how and on what days; for how many days the supplies are to be rationed and what kind of ration they are to draw. He should know what is expected of his regiment in regard to maneuver exercises from day to day. He should see that all the paper work which passes through his hands are correctly made out." He makes the details of officers and issues all of the colonel's orders. He also commands the Headquarters company, consisting of the band, non-commissioned staff and twenty mounted orderlies.

Supply Officer's Duty.
The supply officer is responsible for all of the supplies of the regiment, including clothing, equipment, arms, ammunition, rations, and horses. He is the wagon train of the regiment and takes charge of all transportation either by wagon or railroad. He has one of the most responsible positions in the regiment, for more depends on the men being properly fed than anything else to get the best results out of them. He also commands the supply company.

Each member of the colonel's staff holds the rank of captain. There are twelve others in the regiment of that rank, each commanding a company. The brigade is commanded by a brigadier general and the division by a major general.

In case of a call the troops of each state will be assembled at a mobilization camp. Camp Douglas being the mobilization point for Wisconsin in the weather permits and it is doubtful if it would be any more disagreeable there at the present time with tents which have stood in them than it was in the barracks at the state fair grounds at the outbreak of the Spanish war when large cracks let in the northern wind and ice had to be broken each morning before the troops could wash.

And the Worst Is Yet To Come

PEACE CONGRESS IS PLAN OF SOCIALIST

Interview Given by Secretary of Famous Socialist International on Their Way Toward Speedy Peace.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
The Hague, Netherlands, March 29.—The secretary of the famous Socialist International, Camille Huysmans, in an interview with a correspondent of the Associated Press, has described the present position of that body and the various national European groups which it comprises, in regard to the war, pointing out the obstacles which still prevent united action and dealing with the outlook for the future.

While the executive of the International has agreed to refrain from calling an international congress at present, owing to the irreconcilable attitude which the French party maintains in view of the presence of a German army on French soil, its representatives are nevertheless to have a conference with the British socialist leaders in London, in a few weeks' time, and subsequently with the French socialists in Paris and with the Russian socialists, after having already acquainted themselves with the position in other belligerent countries. Huysmans said that the French socialist deputies who recently visited The Hague for the purpose of hope of ultimately bringing the various branches of the International together again has thus far no means been abandoned. The position is that the central organization is still in complete touch with all the affiliated groups, but that those groups are not all in touch with one another. Such an international congress could be held tomorrow, said M. Huysmans, but he maintained that, without complete representation, it would be useless and even dangerous, as tending to sow suspicion.

Alsace-Lorraine, he stated, still the stumbling block, but a compromise subject is, in his opinion, essential, or another war is inevitable within a few years. His personal view of what the nature of that compromise should be, however, he thought it wise to withhold.

"The German socialist party," declared the secretary of the International to the Associated Press representative, "wants a speedy peace, but, unlike the socialists of France and Britain, they have no determinate voice in the empire's councils, having to rely perforce on whatever indirect influence they may be able to wield through the medium of public opinion." His estimate of their attitude in regard to hastening the end of the war is, in fact, not a high one. And as regards the split in the German socialist ranks, Huysmans thinks there is danger of a definite cleavage if the majority persist in supporting the imperial government's policy.

The attitude of the Hungarian party is an interesting one, and any do they think a speedy peace is necessary," said M. Huysmans, who, it will be remembered, has just conferred with some of their number, "but they are of the opinion that a bridge can be built between the different belligerents. They further take the position that, even supposing the war could have been at first considered a defensive one on Germany's part, it has now become for her an aggressive one, and they hold the view that the whole German socialist party ought now to vote against the war credits, thus furthering a settlement."

All socialists, including the German party itself as a whole, are, it seems, in favor of the political and economic independence of Belgium. "The one or two possible individual exceptions," remarked M. Huysmans, who is himself a Belgian, "have no influence. Out of a million votes, we should have 999,000 in favor of an independent Belgium," so that if the German socialists have influence, Belgium is free.

Germans know very well the military position of Germany does not correspond to their economic position. Moreover, we Belgians are not a people easily subjected, and the Germans are discovering that. They have never seen such people. We have had some experience in this kind of thing. The Spaniards occupied Belgium, and the Spaniards disappeared. We have had the Austrians disappear. The French—disappeared! Our good friends the Dutch—disappeared! And we are also sure that the Germans will disappear. The shooting of the Belgians, the terrible policy, has no influence on us. A large number of socialists and others have been shot in Belgium and the German government thought it would make an impression, but they were wrong. It makes no impression whatever."

DRUGGISTS MUST REPORT
DIPHTHERIA ANTITOXIN
SALES TO HEALTH OFFICER

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
Madison, Wis., March 29.—An opinion of the attorney general, rendered Tuesday to State Health Officer C. A. Harper, defines the statutes as clothing the state board of health with authority to promulgate a rule requiring all druggists or other purveyors of diphtheria antitoxin to report all sales thereof to local health officers, giving the name of the purchaser and of the person on whom the serum is to be used.

Reports of diphtheria antitoxin sales are needed to enable local health officers and the state board of health to secure adequate reports of cases of diphtheria as well as of suspected cases of this disease. Since antitoxin is now almost universally used for the prevention and cure of diphtheria, the reports obtained from druggists and other distributors will make it possible, under such a rule, to locate hitherto unknown cases where the family sought to avoid quarantine by keeping the presence of the disease a secret.

It appears that the Brookfields never settled for the lighting plant installed at their park, by which they were to stage night baseball and revolutionize the game. The lighting company insists on the terms of its agreement and there may be a lawsuit.

United States Tread Tires

The Long-Sought-For 'Balanced' Tires

We have actually produced the long-sought-for 'balanced' tires.

The instant success of our popular priced 'Usco' Tread is a striking example of the automobile owners' immediate recognition of our 'balanced' tires.

There are three big, exclusive reasons why the 'balanced' tire is the 100 per cent. efficient tire.

- 1 Because the rubber tread is 'balanced'—that is, the tread has the exact 'balance' between resiliency and toughness, which produces the greatest possible efficiency in the whole tread.
- 2 Because the fabric carcass is 'balanced'—that is, the carcass has complete 'balance' between flexibility which gives easy riding, and strength which gives endurance.
- 3 Because the whole tire is 'balanced'—that is, the rubber tread and fabric carcass are in such complete 'balance' as to give equal wear—both tread and carcass are equally strong.

It is this three-fold 'balance' that sets the five United States Individualized Tires in a class apart.

Since our 'balanced' tires began to be "felt on the market" last fall, the sales of United States Tires have increased steadily month by month up to the recent highest increase of 354 per cent.

SIMPLY EFFICIENCY.

The present campaign for the election of a new councilman is based upon the question of efficiency solely. It is not a problem of religion or nationality that confronts the voters, but merely which of the most efficient of the two candidates for the office they seek. Religion and nationality should never have any part in the selection of a candidate for any political office. The man who bases his choice upon either or both of these is too narrow to be a fair and impartial judge of the qualification of the candidates to give an unbiased opinion expressed by his vote.

In every line of industry, in business affairs, both great and small, the one great dominant feature is the efficiency of the applicant for a position of trust. His qualifications rank head and shoulders above any other condition unless it be his moral attitude on questions of public importance. To handle the business required of a member of the Janesville city council can not be judged by previous membership of the old council, which means which once in two weeks, held star chamber sessions, traded this vote for that vote, and who left the work to be done by the city clerk.

Roy M. Cummings has been trained to fill the office of councilman by four years experience. He is thoroughly competent to handle the office he seeks re-election to. He has the necessary qualifications and his efficiency can not be questioned. The present day government needs trained men and the taxpayer should not waste his substance by selecting anyone who is not fitted for the responsible position for merely personal reasons. Efficiency is the watch word. Efficiency means a bigger and better Janesville. It means a dollar's worth of work for a dollar expended. It means that the taxpayer gets value for the money he pays for conducting the city's business and it is not a matter of sentiment, religion or nationality that should determine his selection of a councilman, but the one question of efficiency.

AN OPEN LETTER.

There have been so many statements made pro and con relative to the coming election and the possible position that John Sheridan, one of the candidates for election as councilman, would take on matters of public interest, the Gazette offers its columns for a free and frank statement from Mr. Sheridan as to his platform should he desire to make one.

It is certain that the general public would like to be convinced as to the truth or falsity of certain statements credited to Mr. Sheridan before election, and to meet this demand the Gazette will gladly publish Mr. Sheridan's platform so that all may know where he stands on the question of the enforcement of law and order in Janesville.

In justice to himself and to his many friends that are so earnestly endorsing his candidacy, Mr. Sheridan should avail himself of the opportunity and correct any misapprehension that may have arisen through any possible erroneous reports of his attitude on questions that are of vital interest to the citizens of Janesville. The Gazette has no personal feeling in the matter and can assure Mr. Sheridan and his friends that if such a statement is received it will be gladly published free of all charge and will be read with interest by the voting public.

SENATOR TAGGART.

The appointment by Governor Ralston of Tom Taggart to succeed the late Benjamin Shively, as senator from Indiana, insures the election of two republican senators from Indiana to the next congress, according to the view of those best posted on conditions in the Hoosier state. Tom Taggart is probably the most perfect living specimen of that type of political boss which was the product of the unfortunately common and discredited style of machine politics. Like most men who achieved "boss-ship" in the old style politics, he is a man of considerable personal charm and magnetism, but his staunchest friend cannot truthfully deny that he is a reactionary of the first water. That his appointment to the senate will prove repugnant to the Indiana voters, including many democrats, is asserted with the utmost confidence. It could not be otherwise, for it was true that the heaven of a gross had made no impression whatever on the voters of the Hoosier state. That it had made no impression whatever on the democratic machine in Indiana is well recognized by those on the inside, but nothing could more effectively have brought that fact home to the voters, not of Indiana alone, but of the country, than the naming of Tom Taggart as senator. The announcement of Mr. Taggart's appointment cast a gloom over the White House, for some of the ablest democratic politicians were compelled to admit to the president that it was practically certain to put Indiana in the republican column at the November election.

SOME FORGOTTEN HISTORY.

Preparedness advocates thus far have overlooked the striking parallel between the complacency of the present day and the security felt by citizens of Ohio and Indiana fifty-three years ago, prior to Morgan's raid. President Wilson said recently that no man knows what the events of a single day may bring forth. Ohio and Indiana felt secure in the spring of 1863. The North had more than 500,000 troops in the field, with large numbers of militia under training. The war had lasted nearly two and a half years. More than 100,000 men were in arms, at one place or another, to catch General John H. Morgan. The Northern commanders had very advantage in the way of transporting troops, obtaining information.

and disposing forces to intercept or oppose him.

Nevertheless, General Morgan, crossing the Ohio river into Indiana on July 8, 1863, with 2,460 effective men and four small pieces of artillery, amid constant fighting, passed through Salem, Tenn., Lexington, and Vernon, Indiana, entered Ohio at Harrison, passed through the outskirts of Cincinnati, visited Williamsburg, Wilkesville and reached Pomeroy, on the Ohio river, on July 18. Had the river not risen at a most unusual time, Morgan and his forces would have effected their escape by fording the river into Tennessee at the very point where he had contemplated recrossing it.

If such an insignificant force against such odds could avoid a decisive battle for twelve days and could elude capture for eighteen days, surrendering July 26 near the Pennsylvania line, it requires little imagination to believe that a force of veterans from any one of the armies now contending in Europe, landing on our coast 100,000 strong, properly outfitted and using railroads, motor cars and other conveniences of modern transportation, might dominate the triangle from Boston to Rock Island on the Mississippi and to Newport News and keep their sea communications open. Within that arc are concentrated practically all our steel manufacturing and our facilities for producing munitions of war.

With Morgan's raid there was no trace of "frivolousness," little private property was destroyed. The raid, however, demonstrated what irreparable damage might have been done. War today, as conducted by at least one of the belligerents, carries with it an organized devastation never before witnessed in the history of the world.

Remember that the United States has never been so well prepared as it was in July, 1863. Present conditions of the army and navy are only too well known. Who dares doubt that history could repeat itself?

In many localities this is the time of year when real estate investments should not be measured so much by the square foot of surface, as by the gallon of water standing thereon.

Congress, folks are complaining, has been in session for months and done nothing yet. As an optimist, one must feel, it might have done worse.

Before jerking the price of gasoline up to 50 cents, the oil companies might well ponder thoughtfully on what the government did to the express companies.

Who would have thought a year ago about now, that the United States would still be exchanging notes with Germany on the same old subject?

Newspaper editors are hereby reminded that it is not appropriate to classify millinery notes under the head of Easter observances.

Although Germany claims to be fighting for a place in the sun, some people profess to think she wants cold Canada.

Penelope's Fortune.

"The future holds for you, I see. Of riches, a great deal," quoth he; "Oh, tell me, gypsyman," cried she, "When will it loosen up? Tell me!"

The charity bazaar was in full swing as Penelope Vanplunks stepped into the booth marked, "Ishmeel Golem, Palmist."

"Tell me you are a real Hindoo palmist especially imported from Palmyra," she said.

The dark-visaged figure in the flowered robe and turban nodded gravely.

"Then please read my palm." And Penelope seated herself and extended her left hand.

As she was engaged to be married, began Ishmeel Golem.

"Why, how wonderful! But then of course you could tell that by my engagement ring."

The girl to whom you are engaged bears the name of Edward Ritz, and the engagement will be broken." Ishmeel Golem droned on.

"Why, this is uncanny!" cried Penelope, and fled without coming across with a fee.

Ishmeel Golem chuckled grimly to himself. "Not so uncanny, considering that Edward Ritz has rained that engagement ring in my hook shop and redeemed it again eight times!"

It is by no means assured that Dan Tiptoe, for whom the Yankees paid the Indianapolis club $9,000 last fall, will make good in fact company. It seems that Tiptoe worked the winter as a fireman, and he did not report in good condition. He has been worked in two exhibition games, and while he looked up fairly well, there is no assurance that he will be able to fill one of the vacancies on the Yankees' pitching staff.

Edgerton News

Edgerton, March 29.—Reciprocity of the City Federation of Women's clubs was held yesterday at the library hall. The first part of the meeting was in the form of a three course luncheon, which was given by the ladies of the Norwegian Lutheran church in the church parlors. After the luncheon the ladies retired to the library hall, where a social hour was spent. At two o'clock the meeting was called to order by Mrs. H. MacInnis, the president, and Mrs. Murdoch of Beloit was introduced. She spoke on the rest room and social center of Beloit, and suggested many things in this line that could be accomplished in Edgerton. Her address was very interesting and well received by the audience. Mrs. J. A. Strathern, corresponding secretary of the state federation, was then introduced. She gave an interesting talk on reciprocity, and the keynote of her address was "service to others." She also dealt on the "sisterhood of women" and the good to be derived from federation of clubs. There were twelve ladies from Stoughton present and the meeting was one of the most beneficial the ladies have ever enjoyed.

The basketball game between Stoughton and Edgerton, played at the gym last evening, was a very good game to witness as the teams were about equally matched. Both teams experienced difficulty in shooting baskets. Stoughton started off the score with a free throw, and at the end of the first half the score stood 6 to 12 in favor of the locals. In the second half Stoughton made 15 points and Edgerton made 14. This made the final score 21 to 26 in favor of Edgerton. The preliminary game between the Stoughton Juniors and the Edgerton Juniors resulted in a tie score, 10 to 10. As the time was limited the tie was not played off.

The Culture club met at the home of Miss Anna Hoen yesterday in their weekly meeting. Mrs. John Henderson led the meeting. The discussion for the afternoon was the American Japanese question, and was ably discussed by Mrs. L. H. Towne, Mrs. J. A. Henderson and Mrs. S. L. Emery. The way that the present administration is handling the European question and the Mexican situation was also discussed by Mrs. Angie Rothe. The meeting was of exceptional interest and was attended by practically all of the members.

Mrs. Katherine Keeley of this city passed away yesterday afternoon at the age of eighty years. Funeral will be held at the Catholic church Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. High mass will be read by Rev. Father Harlin. Mrs. Keeley was born in the county of Tipperary, Ireland, and when she first came to this country located on a farm with her husband near Bessyville. About twenty years ago Mrs. Keeley died and Mrs. Keeley moved to Edgerton and has resided on Mechanic street since. THE GIRL AND THE GAME ...

Copyright 1915 by Frank H. Spearman.

In the restaurant, to which Storm had taken Helen for lunch before they should go up to the courthouse, Storm, while Helen was ordering, took from his pocket the note for the recorder and gave it to her. Helen opened, read and laid the note on the table with her pocketbook. She and Storm were just enjoying the prospect of a substantial meal, when Seagrue, walking in, approached their table. He spoke to them unconcernedly and, without waiting for an invitation, pulled up a chair and sat down with them.

As tactfully as she could, she made her explanations to Seagrue about commanding her motor car. Seagrue affected truculence and declined to accept her apologies. But he drew a pencil from his pocket, at length, and using the note lying beside Helen's pocketbook for a pad, wrote on it an exorbitant figure. Showing this to Helen, he said dogmatically, "That's what it will cost. If you want this thing settled without trouble for you."

Helen flushed a little with indignation when she saw what he demanded but she was resolved not to quarrel. "All right," she answered simply, "Mr. Rhinelandt will send you a check." The luncheon Storm had ordered was just coming in and while Helen and Storm watched the waitress, Seagrue, leaning forward, looked again at Rhinelandt's note still lying on the table. He began to read it. Storm saw the impertinence and leaning over, coolly picked the note from under Seagrue's eyes and folding it, put it in Helen's pocketbook.

Seagrue, somewhat disconcerted at being caught, rose and left the table without further words. By the time he gained the street he had charted the situation, impudently revealed through Helen's carelessness in guarding the instructions, pretty clearly in his mind.

Returning to the train he found Bill, Spike and Lug. Taking Bill aside, Seagrue called Lug over and told the two about Rhinelandt's loss of the deeds and the effort Helen would make to secure certified copies of them. While he was talking he looked at his watch. "In five minutes," said Seagrue, "the men in the recorder's office will start for dinner. You two fellows take Spike and go quietly up to the courthouse. When the office is empty get the book of deeds and bring it to my room. Bill, can you trust Spike?"

Bill answered he thought he could. "Don't lose any time," directed Seagrue. "You may have to hunt around a little up there. Report to me down at the room."

Bill and his companions stopped over to the train for a minute. Spike watched them disappear and hurried up street himself. He now made himself responsible for a further interruption to the lunch that Helen and Storm were just beginning to relish.

"Seagrue," he whispered, "is up to some work."

"What work?" demanded Helen in alarm.

"Don't know yet," answered Spike, "but I'll find out."

"No Spike!" she murmured, hurriedly. "Don't let him make any more trouble for us, will you?"

Spike nodded to reassure her, and trotted away. When he got back to the train Bill and Lug came from one of the cars. Bill had a revolver in his hand.

"Bill, where's my kit?" demanded Spike.

"Stow it," muttered Bill, "and follow me."

When the three shambled up to the courthouse square, the clerks were leaving the building and the last man out closed the front door. Bill resolved to get in through a convenient side entrance and dispatched Lug around the building to force a back window.

By the time the street was clear, Lug had effected his entrance and opened the door for his companions. With Spike, Bill made his way to the recorder's office and began a search among the books. It was not until he had roused one book after another aside and when, finding the lost book of deeds, he consulted the index book and threw open the pages containing Rhinelandt's right-of-way deeds, that Spike got the least inkling of what he was after.

But the moment Bill found the page he was looking for, he slapped his hand down on it exultantly. "That's the book we want," he exclaimed huskily.

WILL BUILD NEW THEATRE IN MONROE ON SQUARE

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE] Monroe, Wis., March 29.—Monroe is to have a new, large, modern theatre. Plans of several months' figuring have culminated in the purchase by Leon E. Goetz of this city of the Treat property on the south side of the square, which is the initial step completed for the carrying out of the comprehensive plans for the erection of a fine large theatre for Monroe. Building operations will be started the first of April and will take the greater part of the summer to complete. The theatre will contain the very latest in up-to-date equipment and will have every necessary convenience installed for the patrons. A ladies' and children's rest room and a smoking room for gentlemen with every equipment for comfort will be a new feature. The seating for seven hundred and fifty persons will be divided over the main floor and balcony.

The veteran Amby McConnell, formerly with the Red Sox and White Sox and last season with Syracuse in the New York State league, has been released to the U. S. team, succeeding Ed McDonough.

Whitewater News

Whitewater, March 29.—Miss Hilka Carlson is home from her school at Oconomowoc for a week's vacation. Miss S. Dorr, of Brodhead, is spending the week at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Nickerson left today for their home in Plentywood, Montana.

Philip Dorr is home from McHenry, Ill., for the week.

The W. C. T. U. held their regular meeting yesterday afternoon with Mrs. E. C. Holbrook, at the head of the table.

At a meeting of the Sunday school board of the M. E. church last evening the school went through the process of being reorganized into departments with a superintendent for each department, as follows: Primary department, Mrs. R. H. Dixon; Junior, Mrs. W. S. Watson; Intermediate, Mrs. Maude Williams; adult, J. O. Houghton; home, Miss Sarah Parsons; cradle roll, Mrs. F. R. Bloodgood; Rev. C. I. Andrews is to act as superintendent of superintendents. The hour of Sunday school was also changed to 10:00 a. m. instead of after preaching service. This change of hour is to be tried in the Congregational church also.

Clarence Bayer has moved from the Barnes house on North street to one on Wackerly street on the east side.

Mrs. A. Schultz of Delavan was the guest of Mrs. L. J. Stephens the week-end.

Mrs. Carr of Milton Junction came today for a few days' visit at the home of Mrs. L. J. Stephens.

The semi-annual muster of Company C. occurred at the Armory on Monday evening. Captain R. Lindbaum was inspecting officer.

Mrs. Harry Colton of Palmyra is a visitor today with Mrs. L. J. Stephens.

Dr. Lester C. Randolph of Milton Junction did not give his lecture at the Congregational church last Sunday on "The Curse of Whiskey" on account of the stormy weather. He will give the lecture on Thursday evening.

The voters of the town of Whitewater held a caucus here last Saturday at the rooms in the Bower block. There is a spirited fight on as to who shall be the chairman of the caucus, the race lying between Henry Mills and William Ryan.

Orfordville News

Orfordville, March 28.—Gilman Nelson, who has been in the employ of Maurice Leeland since that gentleman came to the village, has relinquished his position.

K. N. Grunwaldt's car of household goods left for Montana on Monday evening. The family expect to leave in a few days.

Henry Grenawalt of Beloit, who was called here by the death of his aunt, Mrs. Hiram Luman, is spending a few days visiting relatives.

Clark Cleveland, Spring Grove township visited at the home of his father, J. M. Cleveland, on Tuesday.

Mr. Walker of Brownstown, who purchased the H. C. Taylor farm, was in the village on Tuesday looking after business matters.

Mrs. Nels Emminger of Brodhead is spending some time with her daughter, Mrs. Fred Cole.

It has been twenty years or more since the roads hereabouts have been in the condition they are at present. The bottom seems literally to have dropped out in many places, making them almost impassable.

MRS. MARY BOWLES DIES AT HOME IN EVANSVILLE

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE] Evansville, March 29.—Mrs. Mary Bowles, aged 73 years, died at her home in this city today from apoplexy. She was born in Germany, coming to the United States when a young girl. She was married to Chris Bowles, and for some years resided in the town of Center. Her husband died some time ago. For seven years Mrs. Bowles has made her home in this city.

She leaves one daughter, Mrs. William Lange, who resides four miles from Evansville; one brother, William Bauer, of a western state, and one sister, Mrs. Charles Nehls, of Janesville. Funeral arrangements have not been announced.

NAPOLEONIC RELICS OFFERED AT AUCTION

War Chest and Bed of France's Hero and Marie Antionette's Vanity Bag Will Be Sold.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE] New York, March 29.—To the highest bidder today at an auction sale in West Forty-fifth street will go Napoleon's War Chest and his bed, Marie Antionette's vanity case and the box of the chess personal belongings she took with her to prison; also dozens of other personal effects of Kings and Queens, Dukes and Duchesses and other nobles.

The sale is that of one of the most interesting and priceless Napoleonic collections in the world. It is known as the Stephen Jumel collection and was brought to America by Jumel in 1816. He had captured the Emperor to bring back the dethroned Emperor. The collection is being sold by Jumel's descendants. It has been thought for many years that the collection would be presented to the City of New York.

Miss Jumel married Aaron Burr in 1833, a year after Stephen Jumel died. It was to her that Napoleon presented his bed, and when she was in Paris she designed and used by him in all his campaigns from Toulon to Waterloo. With its secret key, Napoleon gave Miss Jumel the chest the day before he sailed for St. Helena.

Also to be auctioned is Napoleon's bed, which he used in 1800. It is of mahogany. The medallions on the headboard represent Power and Wisdom in the profile bust of Minerva, helmeted, with an owl atop.

The medallions are crusted with palm trees and seven stars, all representing great deeds. There also is a chess table and chairs with which he played so much.

Napoleon's clock is unique in design and exquisitely dainty in work. It represents Apollo as he goes to war. The Roman faces at each corner, the chariot with its charging steeds, the lion facing the spear and the wreath of laurel, all typify the qualities which dominated Napoleon.

In the collection is the golden eagle, Napoleon's insignia, with wings spread and head and body poised to strike. After his death, Mme. Jumel retained the emblem in her house in Paris.

Other Napoleonic relics include two candlesticks belonging to Louis XVIII, a paper by Horace, Queen of Holland, daughter of Josephine; chairs, sofa, centre table and console table, forming part of Charles X's drawing room suite, still in its original upholstery, and a fan belonging to the Duchesse de Berry.

There are six chairs that belonged to Marie Antionette and the box used to carry some of her belongings to prison. A table on which Voltaire wrote, which was presented to Mme. Jumel by the Prince Talleyrand, and many paintings, including a portrait of Mme. Jumel painted in Rome and a portrait of the Duchesse de Val here by Mignard.

WAR HAS STRIPPED U. S. OF GOOD CAVALRY HORSES.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE] San Antonio, March 29.—The European war has stripped the United States of good horses that today United States army officers have admitted a serious shortage of cavalry remounts.

General Munton has combed Texas without result for available animals capable of standing up under hard campaigning. The buyers of France, Italy and Great Britain have swept the Texas horse country.

St. Louis, Kansas City, Atlanta, Chicago and smaller horse markets now are being investigated by army officers in the hope of obtaining a sufficient supply in a hurry. Here also, however, the army men found that the buyer for the warring nations of Europe had preceded them.

American cavalry regiments are reported to be short now of remounts needed in real campaign work and should many be lost in fighting the problem would become grave. State cavalry regiments too are reported as generally deficient in cavalry animals.

This is considered important for, in case the Mexican campaign develops and the need arises to send all the regular cavalry into the southern rear, the United States cavalry regiments probably will be the last to be called for border patrol work.

Eddie Grant's retirement from baseball to take up the practice of law marks the passing of one of the real highbrows of the game. Grant, a graduate of Harvard, probably is one of the most thoroughly educated men who ever played professional ball.

MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON
Letters may be addressed to
MRS. THOMPSON
In care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young man twenty-four years old and am engaged to a young lady three years my junior. We have been engaged for about two months, and, owing to my financial condition, it will be several more months before we can be married. There is just one thing which prevents our engagement from being a happy one for me, and as I know that you have given good advice which has helped others when in trouble, I am writing you in the hope that you can suggest a practical way out of my dilemma.

The young lady to whom I am engaged is of a very affectionate disposition, and she seems to expect me to kiss and embrace her continually. Now I love this girl deeply, and am true to her in word, thought and deed, and I am desirous to do a certain extent, but I cannot but feel that to spend extended periods of time in each other's arms (which is what she seems to expect and desire) is bound to be deleterious to both of us. In all but this one thing she seems to me to be the embodiment of all things desirable in a sweet heart or wife, and I hesitate to press, to her, my feelings on this subject, as she is very tender-hearted and I would not wound her feelings for the world. If you can suggest some way in which I can appease her, without hurting her feelings, or the light in which I view the matter, I shall be everlastingly grateful to you.

WORRIED.

Some evening when the girl has been particularly demonstrative tell her frankly, yet in the kindest possible way, how you feel about the matter. Nowadays a wife needs to be an intellectual companion to make marriage a success. Life is not one everything. He always looks at the things in his hand, and for some look at the "weak places." You see she knows, because she happens to be his partner not only at cards, but in life.

As I do not know the enthusiastic bidder intimately I cannot back up her analysis of his character, but I do know a great many people like that. They are all trumps in their hands and that's all they see. The other players' trumps, their own weak places, these they forget completely and happily. Happy, that is, for the time being. The ultimate results are frequently far from happy.

For instance, once knew a young man who went into business for himself. He had an excellent formula for making a certain kind of dye. It was a good formula and a new one. That was his trump. He was successful and he saw that to the exclusion of his weaknesses, which turned out to be a lack of capital and an ability on the part of his competitors to prevent his getting a supply of the necessary raw materials when he wanted them.

Of course his opponents played their cards to the best advantage, and after a good fight he lost the game and went out of business. He wasn't a good player. He played every card as well as it could be played, but because he looked too hard at his trumps.

Your trumps are only part to the game.

Don't look at them too hard.

Take Your Opponents' Hands Into Consideration.

Remember that the other players probably have high cards, too.

I sometimes think that ill-considered optimism has wrecked as much of our people's happiness as pessimism.

Perhaps you think I draw too many of my smiles from the card table. If I do I have this excuse, that the quality which bulk big at the card table—judgment, foresight, gameness and self-control—are the miniatures of those which bulk big in life. Sometimes one may possess the miniatures without possessing the real thing, and vice versa, but surely you will grant that it gives a fascinating basis for comparison.

With My Letter Friends

I was interested in the telephone code expression you and your friends use to denote the presence of some obstacle to prevent you from talking. I write a letter friend. A friend of mine has a somewhat similar one, that she and her friends employ when they receive a call from one of the others, and there is someone present whom she does not wish to overhear the conversation. The party receiving the call says, "You have the wrong number, I presume. Mine is Boulevard 2338." Each recognizes the other's voice, they understand, and thus the conversation terminates without raising any questions or surprise in the mind of whoever happens to be present.

THREE SUGGESTIONS
A scorch made by ironing can be bleached out by soaking in peroxide and letting the spot dry between cloths.
Old safety razor blades will remove paint spots from windows without leaving scratches. Single edge blades are best.
When yellow flames in the stove burner cause soot deposits on the bottom of pans, the burner needs cleaning. Roll a piece of paper into a tube and blow it to drive accumulated dust from the burner.

LENTEN RECIPES.

Fish Chowder.—Clean skin and bone three pounds of fish. To bone, add one quart cold water, two slices carrot, small piece of bay leaf and one sprig parsley. Let simmer twenty minutes. Strain stock from bones, chop fish meat and to 1½ cups add one pound cracker, salt, pepper, cayenne and a few drops of onion juice, two tablespoons of melted butter and one egg, then shape in small balls. Try out a small piece of pork cut in small pieces, add one sliced onion and cook five minutes. Strain, and to the fat add one quart potatoes cut in three-fourths inch cubes, add the fish balls and fish stock and cook until potatoes are soft. Melt one-fourth cup butter, add five tablespoons flour, when smooth add one quart of scalded milk, stirring until it boils. Combine mixtures and season highly with salt, pepper and cayenne; add crackers split and soaked in cold milk.

Macaroni and Eggs.—Take one ten-cent box macaroni and boil till done in salted water. Beat two eggs till light in milk and add when macaroni is done before taking from the fire, stirring all the time to mix. Season from cooking in lumps. Season with pepper and butter.

Salmon Scalloped.—From one can of salmon remove skin and bones. Cut five or six potatoes into thin pieces, season with pepper and salt. Into a buttered dish put first a layer of potatoes, then salmon, and so on until dish is full. Pour over a sauce made as follows: One pint milk, two teaspoons flour, one teaspoon butter. Bake thirty-five minutes.

Steamed Salmon Loaf.—Pour liquid from a can of salmon (save for the sauce). Remove skin and bones from fish and pick to pieces; add a small onion grated, three egg yolks beaten, salt and pepper to taste and a few drops of lemon juice. Beat the whites to a stiff froth and fold lightly. Steam in a buttered melon mold 1½ hours. Make a white sauce and add the salmon liquid to it. Pour around the loaf and serve with mashed potatoes.

Salmon Patties.—One can of red salmon (bones removed), and beat fine; two fresh eggs beaten light; one-fourth teaspoon baking powder, one cup sweet milk. Stir this all together, adding a pinch of salt. Thick with cracker crumbs and four tablespoons flour. Drop in hot grease by the tablespoonful and fry. Canned corn can be made into patties by this same recipe.

THE TABLE

Beef Olives.—One and one-half pounds round steak cut thin, one cup bread crumbs, tablespoon onion, one tablespoon parsley, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, two tablespoons butter, one-half teaspoon salt, one-half tablespoon celery salt, dash cayenne pepper. Use meat and trim off fat. Cut on board pieces four by five inches square. In a bowl mix seasonings, bread crumbs and melted butter. Put a layer of seasoned crumbs on the meat and roll and tie securely with white cord. Dredge with flour. When well browned, add one pint boiling water, slice of onion, sprig of parsley, one bay leaf, one teaspoon salt. Cook slowly till done.

Chicken Salad for a Party.—One cooked chicken, one cup chicken grease, five potatoes boiled with jackets on, then peeled and cut in small squares, while still hot, three onions cut fine, one-half cup vinegar, salt and pepper to taste. Put every-

Kidnaped by MRS. EVA LEONARD

The Finding of the Elison Baby Carriage Only Deepens the Mystery. Nell had not finished her dinner dishes when she heard a machine drive up in front of the house. She had been a state of nervous excitement since she heard of the mysterious disappearance of Olive's baby. She rushed to the door, hoping for some word to relieve her suspense. It was the doctor's auto, sure enough, and—Oh, joy! there was the baby buggy in the back of the machine. She ran down the walk, exclaiming: "Where did you find her?"

"To Alas! we have not found her," replied Olive sadly. "That's your buggy, isn't it?" Nell was examining the little carriage as she spoke.

"Yes, the carriage is ours." Her voice shook so she could hardly speak. "We found the carriage by the side of the road on the cross street just before you strike the paved automobile road. It looks as if as if two people were concerned in the kidnapping," said the doctor, coming to Olive's rescue. "At least the machine was not brought into town; the baby was wheeled out of town in its own buggy, and then a machine was evidently used."

"Some carefully laid plan seems to have been followed," remarked Nell. "No man in a buggy would attract attention, whereas a strange automobile would be observed and that might lead to its being traced." "I have just thought that I will see the editor of the town paper. It is printed today and a full account of all the circumstances would put all the readers at work to help solve the mystery." Some one must have seen the strange machine and so he able

"Now, dear," said Nell as she placed Olive on the lounge, "I will make you a cup of tea. You must have something to brace you up. This may be a long strain and you can't allow yourself to go to pieces like this. What will your poor husband do if he has a sick wife to think of? Let him have all his faculties to plan a campaign to find the baby. He can't if your collapse." Nell ran to make the tea, leaving Olive with closed eyes from which the tears slowly trickled.

"Now, drink this. It is hot and strong and will brace you to get through the afternoon," Nell sat down and held the cup while Olive slowly sipped the steaming tea.

"You may get some message tonight. If someone has stolen the baby to raise money, the sooner the offer is made the better," continued Nell.

Olive slowly shook her head. "It is nothing like that," she said tremulously.

"How do you know?" asked Nell. "I do not know, but I think it is nothing so simple as that. Nothing like that would be tried unless the victim were rich. It is too dangerous." Olive sipped the tea in silence.

"What is your theory?" asked Nell. "I have none. I am too crushed with my misfortune to think," answered Olive.

HOW TO LET AN ULCER ALONE

One of the best, if not the best, of all methods for the treatment of bad burns, ulcers, and open wounds is letting them severely alone. But that is one of the most difficult things to do. It requires inequality and technical ability to a high order to let anything absolutely alone.

Supposing the burn or ulcer or wound is upon the calf. If the patient is confined to bed or a chair it is a simple matter to arrange a screen which will keep off flies and prevent clothing from touching the lesion. But if the patient wishes to be about, some means must be devised to allow the air to reach the lesion and still avoid all contact. It is assumed that the lesion is fairly clean, that the raw surface is normally red or pink, and that there is no matter what you do can improve her work a great deal with antiseptics, salves, too frequent dressing, and unnecessary handling of the part.

One good way to let the ulcer alone is this: Obtain a small wire sieve with a circumference large enough to cover the lesion and include half an inch or more of skin on all sides. Bind the edge of the sieve with Z. O. adhesive plaster. Apply the sieve over the plaster, then stick on long strips of adhesive plaster in such a way as to hold it securely in place. A few turns of bandage over and under the adhesive strips will add to the security of the dressing. Then forget the lesion for from three to ten days, provided the dressing remains in place in that time you will be surprised to find how rapidly the ulcer heals over.

If the granulating surface rises higher than the level of the skin it must be reduced somehow. That is the so-called "proud flesh," which is never dangerous, but only delays healing. Skin won't grow up till even for the doctor. The exuberant granulation tissue is best cut down in a clean manner by the doctor—a procedure which is painless, since granulation has no nerves. The older, and uncleanly and painful way was to burn it down with various caustics.

THE WOMEN'S COUNCIL

—Edited by MRS. ABBIE HELMS—

"Let Us Meet and Counsel Together"

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Women take as much interest in local politics as do men. They are strongly against anything which would not be in harmony with the country and good government. Hon. A. A. Ketcher, ex-Mayor of Lawrence, Kan.

The Rev. F. H. Brigham's Temperance ideas enjoyed by the local Women's Christian Temperance society. A new slogan, "The Rescue of the 90 and 99."

The influence of hosts of foreigners and great changes in social and industrial conditions, have ebbed and flowed, since those halcyon days when the great Evangelists, Moody and Sankey, rescued our American youth from the backward race of the old world, have helped to alter the type of mind of the youth of this generation.

Our churches, empty of boyish faces today, "The ninety and nine are on the hills away," "Away on the mountains bleak and bare." Away from the home, and its loving care, like vapor, our youth are escaping our control. But they are not to be rescued today with song nor love-tale. Nor will adventure, nor laughter, nor legend avail.

The temperance reformers feel that the liquor traffic is a monumental factor in beguiling our boys from the paths of peace. Therefore, our purpose is, to retrieve, to amend, to restore to boyhood its innocence. A great spirit of brotherhood impels us to stand on the watch tower of human betterment; and waive the danger signal to our American youth.

A prime reason in the rescue of the children, to inform the mind, to stir the conscience, to make people think. Then, impel to action. We aim to create a general knowledge regarding the traffic in alcohol, its effects and the economic waste to the individual, the family, the nation.

The Rev. F. H. Brigham responded to our call, "Come over into Macedonia and help." He has plans and most excellent methods of campaign work for National Prohibition. His speech was characterized by statistics that were startling, and earnestness that is always contagious.

The following is a part of his remarks:

"The time is past when the beneficial effects of the use of alcohol can be intelligently argued; as when the harmful effects of its use can be denied. The only voices now raised in defense of the liquor traffic are those of personal appetite or of social greed. The brewers know that their day of doom is at hand. To hasten this day, we must tell the people of the danger, and the poisonous effects of alcohol upon the human organism."

John Mitchell, ex-President of United Mine workers says: "Drugs have given many a strong man to poverty. It is not true, that if you prohibit the liquor traffic, you cause a calamity. But it is true, that when you close a distillery, a factory takes its place and employs many more laborers, as a general rule."

President Tom C. Lewis of the United Mine workers says: "The leaders of the trades-union movement are called on to fight the liquor traffic because it is our constitution which forbids any member to sell intoxicants. Because the liquor traffic makes slaves of the people, and keeps them poor and ignorant."

John E. Leonard, treasurer of the American Federation of Labor says: "Has there ever gone out from a union any influence for the benefit of humanity? The use of alcohol has caused a man's ability to earn money. The liquor traffic drives women to the wash tub and children to the factory. Every cent spent in the liquor business is worse than wasted."

This much from the laborers' view. Now, hear the employers' verdict. Be it resolved, that for our own protection, under the state compensation law, we request our employers to obtain from the use of alcohol. This is signed by nineteen firms of Menasha and Menasha.

The National Safety council condemn liquor and place it on record as being in favor of eliminating the use of alcohol in the industries of the nation.

National specialists on insanity and nervous diseases, at their latest meeting in Chicago, recommended a campaign of education and prohibition of the sale of alcoholic drinks.

Dr. Peterson of Columbia University, New York City, says: "Alcoholism is the cause of many of the causes of insanity, epilepsy, paralysis, tuberculosis, etc. Drinking parents poison their unborn children, causing death, idiocy, epilepsy, etc."

From Government statistics we learn that $2,500,000,000 is the price of our annual drink bill. This great destroyer is injuring the character of our people, their health, their life. Nations should protect the lives of their citizens. It should be the first duty of the Federal government to end this poisonous traffic.

It should be the logical business of all men to cooperate in the business of making the world a safer place for weak humanity to abide in. Therefore, let us buckle on our temperance armor and "Away to the rescue of the ninety and nine."

THE APPROACHING BIENNIAL.

It is predicted that the biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's clubs, to assemble in New York on the twenty-fourth of May, will be one of the largest gatherings ever held in any part of the world. There will be delegates from Alaska, Panama, the Philippines, several European countries, China, Japan, Mr. William Grant Brown, chairman of the local biennial board of the Federation, explains that while the convention proper, if all eligible attended, would bring together about thirty thousand representative women, numerous visitors will accompany the delegates. Already reservations are being effected at New York hotels at a rate of several hundred a day.

Mr. Brown says:

"The delegates comprising the convention will be the direct representatives of over two million women in the United States. They will reflect the sentiment and the character of the vast importance of this convention. Many important questions of the day will be discussed affecting the national welfare and the part women are to take in the future of the world. Preparation will be made and definite action taken as to the work of the convention which will be held in the Seventh Regiment Armory. One company of room will be given up to each department for its work. These departments include: Civic, civil service reform, conservation, education, home economics, industrial and social conditions, legislation, literature and library extension, music and public health. The largest session will be held at the Hotel Delavan.

From these details it appears that the convention will be interesting for other things than mere business, even if in point of size it attains the vastness which is possible as a result of the organization's extensive membership.

STATE PRESIDENT SENDS FOLLOWING BULLETIN.

The greatest biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs ever held will convene in New York City May 23-June 2. There will be a great program, delightful social events, instructive exhibits and all the usual fine features and more. All clubs that belong to the General Federation should do their utmost to list these delegates and delegates. A list of these delegates and delegates must be sent before April 15 to the General Federation Secretary, Mrs. J. A. Southworth, South Kaukauna, Wis. This is very important. Be prompt. Mrs. Kinsman would appreciate it if you would send the list to her also.

THE ART LEAGUE AND ITS EXHIBIT

This club always tries to have its annual exhibit the supreme event of the exhibit, there will be no other program. A brief business meeting is scheduled for Friday. The collection of pictures, the work of Wisconsin artists, which the league is bringing here, for this exhibit, is especially interesting.

Adolf Schulz, the landscape painter, living at Delavan, plaintively remarks: "That better recognition and honor in distant communities than they do in Wisconsin."

Another local celebrity living in Delavan who is forging rapidly to the front, is Dudley. "As a specialty in frozen rivers and landscapes, Adam Emory Albright is claimed by Wisconsin, and he loves to paint adorable children and all their freakish plays. The league owns the work of Albright's work which will be placed with the collection. The league has decided to secure a picture by Edward Timmerman, a local artist, as his birthplace and home, but he had nothing suitable to send at this time. The exhibition contains over one hundred pictures collected under the supervision of the art department of the State Federation of Women's Clubs. The artist art critic, Dudley Craft Watson, was the first to see the pictures, which passed upon the pictures, which is proof enough of their artistic standard. Many of the names included are painters of the best known American artists. A descriptive list of the companies the pictures, which helps to give interest to the exhibit. The league has decided to charge no admission to the exhibition, that all may see the pictures and become acquainted with the work of Wisconsin artists. If visitors care to contribute a small coin to help defray expenses it will be most acceptable.

The teacher of art in the public schools has been asked to so arrange that those of her pupils who will be interested will accompany her on Saturday forenoon to see the pictures.

The exhibit lasts from Wednesday, March 29, through Sunday, April 2. Every one is urged to come to Library hall and get acquainted with Wisconsin artists.

JOINT MEETING OF WOMEN'S CLUBS AT LIBRARY ON FRIDAY AFTERNOON

At the club luncheon held on last Thursday, it was decided to organize a City Federation of Women's clubs and to hold an adjourned meeting for that purpose on Friday, March 31. At that time the outline of a constitution will be taken up and discussed and officers elected for the new organization. Under the plan of the by-laws adopted by the federation at Beloit, individual members may join the federation without joining the clubs of the city. Therefore, members of the W. C. T. U., the Women's Relief corps and those Catholic societies having study programs are specially urged to be present and assist in forming this new association. It should unite the active co-operation all the better elements of the city, as there is no reason why a civic organization of women should not take in all women who are interested in the betterment of city conditions. As this meeting is to be an adjourned meeting of the one previously held, the same chairman—Mrs. W. F. Bosworth—has kindly consented to preside until the new officers are elected.

CIVIC LEAGUE.

The postponed meeting of the Civic League was held in the city hall Monday afternoon. About thirty members were present. Mrs. Percy Munger presided and Miss Matilda Munson acted as secretary.

The regular business was transacted and minutes read. The bills for the expenses of Baby week were allowed and ordered to be paid.

The report of the committee on education was given.

Mrs. Nichols gave a resume of the high barn work.

The report of the treasurer was given, which showed that the general fund was $122.

The resignation of Mr. Krotz as president of the Civic League was read. The question of the fir campaign was taken up and it was ordered that the fund to carry this work should be taken out of the general funds.

The question of a city federation was taken up and discussed. A vote was taken, and owing to matters of parliamentary law that came up it seemed advisable that the vote be postponed until the next meeting.

The next regular meeting will be held on the second Monday of April, and all members are urged to be present at that time.

CONSTITUTION FOR CITY FEDERATION

As there has been so much discussion concerning a city federation among the club women, it might be helpful to let it be known what are the salient facts contained in the constitution of our sister city, Beloit. The object of the federation shall be to strengthen by organization, individual effort, to increase unity and good fellowship among its members and to promote the welfare of the city.

Article 3. Clubs or individuals desiring to join the Federation, shall make application for membership to the Secretary of the Federation.

The Board of Directors may admit an individual or non-sectarian club to membership that is interested in civic, social, literary and artistic improvement.

One section of this article says: All members of the Federation shall be present at annual meetings and take part in discussions upon all measures, introduce motions and vote.

Article 4. The general officers of the Federation shall be President, two Vice Presidents, Secretary, Treasurer and Auditor.

Following section of this article says that: The Board of Directors shall fill vacancies, and that officers shall be elected by ballot.

Several of the following articles make provision for the place and time of the annual meeting, how many shall constitute a quorum and how to make amendments to the constitution.

Also the duties of the officers are defined and the amount of annual dues specified.

The Board of Directors is described as follows:

The General Officers, the Presidents of the Federated clubs, or their appointive representatives of individual members and chairman of standing committees shall constitute the Board of Directors. How the individual members are to be represented on the board is outlined as follows:

Individual members shall be divided by the Board of Directors into groups, not exceeding twenty members each; and the Board shall appoint one member from each group to serve on the Board of Directors.

The other provisions of the Constitution refer to the order of business, what constitutes a quorum and such organizational matters as pertain to an organized body brought together to do business.

WOMEN'S WORK IN THE ART EXHIBIT OF WISCONSIN ARTISTS

Women are well represented in the exhibit now being presented at Library hall. It would seem as though a large part of the artistic work had been done by women and their canvases represent some of the most charming pieces of the collection.

Madison women have been contributed by Miss Lella Dore represented by "The Persian Palace," and a girl life study; Mrs. H. L. Smith with "October Zinnias" and a canvas entitled "October" and Mrs. W. E. Chase who has "Flowers in April." The Garden House and Vase painting by Rose Wood, from the standpoint of personality, Emily P. Grooms' pictures are among the notable works, particularly "her canvas entitled 'The Cloud of Dust' where the group of women, seen from the untrained eye of an amateur to be blue. Her other pictures, Green Wood and Autumn are likewise full of individuality and well expressed.

For those who are not college, the taste usually has to be cultivated. Katherine Merrill's two etchings of the Woolworth Building and "St. John's Polish Cathedral" are full of interest. One does not take the time to study, as they do such good work in that line. Other women who have oil paintings on exhibit are Mrs. Mary S. L. Jacques, Augustus, Mrs. M. J. Jacques, "Marine," Mary L. Dexter, September, Early Morning, A Threading Day—Helen L. Camp, Lone Tree Spring—Margaret Baker, Jackson, The Valley by Frida Guckler, The Valley by Frida Guckler, St. Mark's Venice by Mrs. Ruth Langlade Holberg.

In water color Grace Ricker has "Bark River, Still Life and Grey Day." Mrs. Margaret A. Wenker has "The Tide, Mabel, Delavan, a decorative panel, Holyrocks and Charlotte Markham has an interesting design for a mural decoration. These are some of the lesser known woman artists of the state.

Mrs. M. Jacques is a woman 76 years old living on an Indian reservation who has never had a lesson in art. She sends some remarkable bits of work, one a scene of falling snow and an Indian entering his tent, and the delicate radiance sometimes seen on a winter day.

The Schulz family have contributed some fine canvases. The Cottage Madonna, Old Roses and Wisconsin in the Countryside, which radiate the very truth and romance of Wisconsin life from their glowing canvases.

Miss Charlotte Markham, a young lady from Manitowoc and her panel called industry and is a group of children weaving flowers into a fantastic chain out in a meadow.

The highest priced picture in the exhibit is by Adam Emory Albright of Baraboo and is entitled Children by the Stream.

PLANS FOR DISTRICT FEDERATION.

Mrs. E. F. Woods went to Delavan on last Saturday to perfect plan for the meeting of the District Federation which meets there on April 29-30. The hostesses of the occasion are the women's clubs of the town which have invited the federation to meet with them.

Mrs. Woods gave an address before a mass meeting of the clubs on the subject, "The Responsibility of the Individual Club Woman." The following call to the convention has been sent out to the clubs of the district:

DEAR MADAM PRESIDENT:

The Wisconsin First District Federation of Women's clubs will hold its fourteenth annual convention in the Baptist church at Delavan, April 29 and 30. The convention sessions will open at 2:15 p. m. Tuesday and close at one o'clock the following day. It will therefore be necessary for all delegates to plan to stay over night. The Ohio, Monday and Women's clubs of Delavan extend a cordial invitation to your club to send as large a representation as possible, and to provide lodging and breakfast to all delegates and visiting club women. Luncheon Tuesday will be served by the Domestic Science Department of the High School, for thirty-five cents; dinner Tuesday evening at Hotel Delavan, for fifty cents, and luncheon Wednesday at one o'clock at the Baptist church, thirty-five cents. According to the by-laws, "Clubs shall be entitled to representation as follows: Each club having a membership of fifty or less shall be entitled to two delegates; each club having a membership of fifty and less than one hundred shall be entitled to three delegates; each club having a membership of one hundred or more shall be entitled to five delegates."

Please instruct one of your delegates to give a WRITTEN report for your club, a report which must not exceed three minutes in length. It is suggested, because the time limit must necessarily be strictly enforced, that this report should state the special time of study or work carried on through the year, what the club has done for the community, and omit all mention of its social affairs. After this report has been read it should be given to the recording secretary.

The program committee has the pleasure to announce that we shall have with us Tuesday afternoon Mrs. J. A. Aylward, First Vice-President of the Wisconsin State F. W. C. Following her address in view of the fact that so great interest in Child-Welfare was aroused by "Baby-Week," the rest of the afternoon will be devoted to "The Education and Care of the Deficient Child." Talks on this subject will be given by the Superintendents of our State institutions for the education of such children and by Mrs. George A. Chamberlain of Milwaukee. The evening address will be given by Dr. Lester C. Randolph of Milton, his subject, "The American Boy."

The cordial invitation of the Delavan clubs, and the interesting and helpful program promised, will, we trust, cause a large attendance.

The local committees make the following requests: That the names of delegates be sent as early as possible to Mrs. Chas. A. Wright.

2. That all who desire entertainment over night write Mrs. Howard Williams at least one week in advance of the meeting.

3. That all delegates and visitors who plan to attend the luncheon, Tuesday, will notify Mrs. Herman Briggs, by April 21st. This is most important as the ladies must know how many plates to guarantee the Domestic Science Department.

That each club-woman wear a knot of blue ribbon and her visiting card.

Yours truly,
MRS. E. F. WOODS, President.
MRS. A. E. STEWART, Cor. Sec.

WOMAN'S RELIEF CORPS.

(Items from Relief Corps press correspondents of the state received and condensed by department press correspondent, Carrie A. Glenn.)

W. B. Cushing corps of Waukesha celebrated Lincoln's birthday by presenting flags to the high school and Congregational church. The flag to the high school was presented on Friday. The assembly room was packed to its utmost capacity, with students, members of the G. A. R., Woman's Relief Corps and other interested friends. A musical program was given, and Mrs. Edna Blume, patriotic instructor, in behalf of W. B. C. presented the flag to the school. Superintendent Loomis accepted the flag in behalf of the school. At the conclusion of his remarks the students rose in a body and saluted him. A banquet was served at the church was presented at the Sunday morning service. After the organ voluntary, songs by the choir, prayer, and reading of the lesson by Rev. W. W. Johnson, the W. B. C. presented the flag to the pastor, as the most precious gift that our soldier fathers have bequeathed to us. It was accepted by the pastor in a neat little speech, and a patriotic address closed the exercises.

George Eggleston Corps of Appleton sent that 20 members of post and corps went to Neenah to attend a surprise birthday party in honor of Post-Department Commander S. A. Cook. The party was held in the armory. The members of the W. B. C. of the different cities, united in presenting him with a beautiful hand painted picture. A large bouquet of drak red carnations was also presented to him. A banquet was served at 5:30 in the dining hall, in the center of the table was a pyramid birthday cake, covered with lighted candles. Mr. Cook is one of our most popular department commanders, as was evidenced by the crowds that came from Oshkosh, Appleton, Stockbridge, Chilton, Neenah and Menasha.

This organization meets with Mrs. Jenkins, on Milton avenue, Saturday, April 1. The program is on Alaska.

AGRICULTURAL and GARDEN DEPT

ALLEN B. WEST, Director

(Allen B. West.)

Whereas, the department of agriculture has called my attention to the serious shortage of good seed corn in Wisconsin, due to the unfavorable ripening season last fall, I therefore deem it necessary to acquaint the public with the following facts:

Many germination tests have shown that little of the seed corn has sufficient vitality to make it safe for planting without securing a germination test of each ear. However, much of the seed saved through low in germination, contains many ears of high vitality. These can be found and saved by a simple test of each ear.

Many of Wisconsin's improved, home-grown and acclimated strains of corn that otherwise might be destroyed and lost to state, can in this way be saved and profitably used. Greatly decreased stands and yields, with much waste of time, money and effort will surely follow if the seed, on hand is planted without proper testing.

The situation is so serious and so imperative that I deem it advisable to publicly call attention to these conditions.

To this end, I hereby proclaim the week from March 27 to April 1, as Seed Corn week. I urge that during this period every farmer thoroughly test each ear of his seed corn and eliminate all ears not showing high germination. I hereby urge that business men of all classes encourage farmers in this work and that they render assistance in obtaining acclimated seed of high vitality.

Witness my hand and the Great Seal of this state at the affixed 10th day of March, 1916.

By the Governor, MANUEL L. PHILIPP,
John S. Donald, Secy. of State.

This proclamation of Governor Philipp shows that he realizes the importance of the corn crop to the state of Wisconsin. Those who have studied the situation tell us that a large proportion of the seed corn saved by the farmers of the state is worthless. For the farmers to plant such corn means a great financial loss, waste land and wasted work in planting, cultivating and harvesting. So the only safe way is to test the corn ear by ear.

Reasons for this poor seed is found not only in the unfavorable season of 1915, but in the poor method of earing for the corn. Only the other day the writer saw a large quantity of corn hanging out of doors under the eaves on the south side of a chicken house which was exposed to the hot sun which is likely to be fatal to the seed.

THE DRAMATIC LEAGUE.

This organization met at the City Hall on Monday evening. The second act of "The Mob," by Galea worthy, was read and discussed. The current plays were mentioned and a general talk along the line of dramatic news was given.

six kernels from each ear in a small envelope and then soaks the envelope in water and piles them five deep on the squares. He covers these with a cloth, then puts in another pile of five, then another cloth, and another pile. In this way he tests fifteen ears to each square instead of one ear as is usually done.

Let the motto for this week be: "Test, don't guess!"

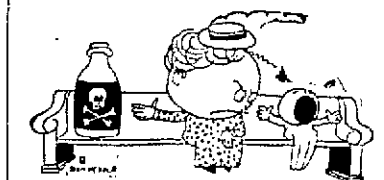

Question: How will it do to get seed of southern corn and mix with Golden Glow to get more green matter for the silo?

Answer: This is not to be advised. Corn for the silo should be nearly ripe to make satisfactory silage, and southern corn will not mature at the same time as the Golden Glow and very likely will fail to mature at all. Experiments have shown conclusively that the best silage is made from corn that has not only leaves and stalk, but ears as well, and all in a good state of maturity. Immature corn in the silo is apt to produce an acid condition that makes the feed unpalatable to the cows and a lessened milk supply is the result.

Second Baseman James E. McAuley and Shortstop Patty Siglin have been released by the "Pirates" to Tommy Leach's Rochester International league club, under an optional agreement. The Pirates obtained the two from Iowa and last year they played the greater part of the season on the Youngstown club.

DORBACHER'S FIVE FAIL TO GET HIGH SCORE AT TOURNEY

Three Beloit Teams Fail to Get In for Prize Money When They Roll in Tourney Last Night.

Three more days of the southern Wisconsin bowling tournament at the Miller Alloys are left, but no five man team has gone over the record set by the Waterbury bowlers in the first few days of the tourney. Two thousand five hundred seventy-eight is the highest score made in this class and the nearest any five came to it last night was 2,477. This was done by the Dorbacher's Colts, from the Line City. This team started out in good shape last night and in the first event they hit a total of 869 pins, but the next time the fell short over one hundred pins and got 732. The next time they picked up and nearly struck the nine hundred mark. The falling down in the second event was fatal for them as they might have broken that low tournament record.

Two other five man teams accompanied the Colts up here last night, and that is all they did do. Elliot's Tigers had the best luck of the two, and their five man event ended with a score of 2,388 marked up for them. Van's Colts were not quite as good and they could only get 2,065 for their efforts.

Janesville pin enthusiasts occupied the alleys for part of the evening, when they rolled in the single and double events. In the doubles some fair scores were pulled off all in the nine hundred class. Dickerson and Picheur had the most pins knocked down and Wolcott and Baumann followed close with 852. Grove and Mead rolled a fairly high game, and in the three events they had knocked 942 pins in the pit.

In the single class a number of high scores were made in single games, but no event went over six hundred pins. Olson had the high score for the three games and for a single event. In the last lap he topped over 224 pins and in the three games 555 of the maples were knocked over.

Tonight three local fives and the Fairbanks-Morse team from Beloit will roll in the five man class. Scores:

THREE MORE GAMES ON THE HOME FLOOR

Whiting Owls, Rockford and Tomah Remaining Teams to Play Here. —Go on Iowa Trip Next Week.

There are three more home games on the schedule of the Lakota Cardinals and many more in a schedule to be played here from Janesville, and the Lakotas must win every one of the contests to maintain their championship claims for the middle-western district. One of the most important games comes Saturday, when the Cardinals meet the Whiting Owls of Whiting, Indiana, a team with a record of thirty-three games out of thirty-four contests played. As have the Lakotas, the Whiting Owls trimmed the club that beat them the one game in a return contest. Every Chicago team of importance, except the "A. C.," the "home town champs," have been beaten by the Lakotas.

The Lakotas will not make another fatal mistake in this game, by not having their full strength, as they did against Rockford. Young and McCreary will be in to fill out the team, composed of Hemming, Edler, Atwood, Dalton and possibly Korst, if the latter recovers from his injury that kept him out of the last Rockford game played here in a Janesville youth who attended Dubuque College, and according to Dalton, also a student there, he has developed into a most sensational player both at center and at forward. Young, if needed, is sure to play with the Lakotas Saturday, but it is likely he will be put at forward with Atwood, as there is no use shifting Edler and Dalton from guard positions, where they play the best. Young has the speed, the dribbling ability and certainly can shoot baskets, and there is no reason why he could not star at the forward position as he did at guard.

The Saturday following, April eight, the Rockford Stars will play on the rubber, and the most sensational tilt of the season is anticipated as both teams have won a game and the next contest will be the series. On the fifteenth comes Tomah, their championship claims, and this game will close the Lakotas' season. Next week the Lakotas are planning a trip through Iowa, playing three or four games against the crack clubs of that state. Two games with Muscatine will be scheduled, as this five has been anxious to meet the Janesville five. Stoughton may be scheduled at that point where the big fellow was all in. Had it gone further, Moran, in the opinion of many, would have knocked the champion out.

TIGERS HAVE NO DESIRE OF GOING INTO RETIRED BALL PLAYERS' HOME.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Waxahatchie, Tex., March 29.—A majority of the members of the Detroit American League baseball club, do not approve the plan of establishing a home for retired ball players. Several of the Tiger players have declared that under present salary conditions any capable player who does not become incapacitated by injury, should be able to save at least a modest fortune during his diamond career. Some were inclined to think that players who were not of a "savings" disposition, but who were clever performers on the ball field, would not be helped and might be harmed by the proposed plan.

MICHIGAN NOT TO ENTER RELAY AT PHILADELPHIA.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Ann Arbor, Mich., March 29.—It is understood that the University of Michigan will not enter a four mile relay team, in the annual athletic meet at the University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia, this spring. Trainer Farrell has a long distance relay team of veterans but is said to believe his flyers would be more successful in a two mile event. Recently the two mile team, with three of the four-mile relay champs in action, defeated Cornell at Buffalo and made a new record of 7 minutes 56 3-5 seconds.

WISCONSIN IS STRONG IN CONFERENCE BASEBALL

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Madison, March 29.—Since the Minnesota baseball nine has been organized for the coming season, Wisconsin hopes to schedule a pair of games for this year. Two games were scheduled last summer to be played this spring, but when the baseball war broke out, the "big nine" conference during the winter, the Gopher institution cancelled all of its scheduled contests. The contests will be played on Saturdays if arranged, as the authorities at Minnesota have placed a ban on games being played during the school week, by reason of interference of class work.

Wisconsin baseball chances for the conference title look brighter every day. Coach Huff of the Illinois team expects to place a world-beater of a nine on the diamond, and from all indications, the Suckers will be the strongest opposition for the Badgers. The appearance and splendid showing of "Bill" Chandler, pitcher, has raised Wisconsin's chances considerably. Wisconsin must practice much within the next few weeks, if a title team is to be realized. Chicago and Purdue boast of strong teams.

WILLARD IS PANNED BY GOTHAM WRITERS

New York Papers Most Uncomplimentary to Champion Willard in Descriptions of Big Bout.

Evidently New York boxing fans who witnessed the title bout between Jess Willard, champion, and Frank Moran, are not pleased at the showing made by the champion. Accounts in New York papers received here today, "pan" the champion in no mild terms, and not a few writers declare that Moran would have won via the knockout had the bout gone twenty rounds or over.

Walter St. Denis, New York Globe, opens his article stating "Jess Willard won, according to the rules and regulations laid down for the scoring of points. But it was not his fighting spirit, nor his ability, which scored it for him. He should give thanks to his Maker that he was endowed with six feet six inches in height and a reach that would do a gorilla proud. But for nature's awards, Frank Moran would have shorn the champion of his laurels before that immense crowd, for Moran was the better fighting man."

Moran, according to the account, made the fight what it was. Had he not gone after the giant with his lance left jab, it would have been even tamer than the Gibbons-McFarland bout. For about five minutes of the thirty, St. Denis said, "did Willard fight. In the seventh round Moran absorbed the punishment in the one rally of the champion and then had Willard dazed from a wild counter attack."

Alfred W. McCann, another boxing "expert," had the following to say: "Willard did not win. Nobody won. It was Moran's fight, but it was a fight that did not end in a victory. It was automatically brought to an end at that point where the big fellow was all in. Had it gone further, Moran, in the opinion of many, would have knocked the champion out."

"Withdrew with his long pole-like left could hold off any man in the world, yet Moran hit him, and in every round forced the giant from one corner of the ring to another."

NO SPRING HUNTING WARNS COMMISSION

Conservation Commission Sound Warning and State Law Against Spring Shooting.

The Wisconsin conservation commission has sent out a warning to sportsmen against the shooting of wild fowl during the spring, and it also behooves the hunters to respect the law, for there is also a strict federal statute against spring shooting. The penalty for the federal offense is even more severe than for a state offense, and a violator can and has been convicted for both offenses. During the past ten days or so thousands of ducks and geese have gone over Rock county. During the stormy weather ducks in great numbers rested in their northern flights or fed on the streams in the county.

At one time there were thousands of ducks gathered on Rock river, a most unusual sight, and as one of the sportsmen declared, "they seemed to sense the fact that they were protected, and showed little fear of man." There were more ducks on the river in one day during the rainy period than there are during all the open season in the fall. Since the work of the Rod and Gun club there has been very few violations of the game laws, as each member is pledged to obey the law and see that others conform with the regulations. There has not been a prosecution in the Janesville court since the spring shooting season. The appeal sent out by the state commission follows:

"The flight of ducks to the north has begun and it would be well for the hunters to observe the law prohibiting the spring shooting of them. The federal migratory bird law also prohibits the spring shooting of ducks, and all violations of the Wisconsin laws are reported by this department to the federal authorities and the violators apprehended will be prosecuted by the federal authorities after paying the penalty imposed by our state courts."

Hunters should also bear in mind that the statute of limitations in these cases gives two years after the violations are committed to start action, and violators can be brought into court at any time should evidence be found upon which to base the prosecution.

"The law also provides that any person making complaint and furnishing evidence which leads to the conviction of a violator is entitled to one-third of the fine imposed. It is not at all unusual for cases to be brought into court long after the violations are committed and it is indeed unsafe for any hunter to feel secure from prosecution even though he should escape immediate detection."

"The conservation commission has made several prosecutions during the past six months where the offense was committed several months before, and in every case the violators were found guilty and fined. We have several cases at the present time under investigation and no doubt prosecutions will soon follow."

"It is therefore advisable that all hunters observe the law and avoid the danger of prosecution."

MEYERS, FOOTBALL CAPTAIN, MAY PLAY AT QUARTER NEXT SEASON WITH WISCONSIN

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Madison, March 29.—With the approach of the spring football training and drilling comes the news that Captain-elect, "Paulie" Meyers, will try out for the pilot position of quarterback on the 1916 Wisconsin eleven. Camp Randall will be commenced on April 1, and as the ground has given up its frost and the soil is dry, Coach Juneau, resigned, will take charge of the spring work, as his resignation does not take effect until June. He will be assisted by ex-captain "Cub" Buck, and Captain-elect Meyers.

Dr. Paul O. Withington, newly appointed head coach, will arrive in Madison early next month to confer with Meyers and others directly interested in the situation at Wisconsin. He will not take any active work in the spring workouts, it is believed on account of his work in the east. Wisconsin has lost many gridiron stars. Through graduation the Badgers will lose Buck, Smith, Stavrum, Landry, Geo. Simpson, Cummings, Welmer, and Dow Byers. Over seventy candidates are expected to report for the opening work. Among this number will be Captain Meyers, Rosenberger, Koch, Gardner, Gunderson, Hancock, Fetting, Beyers, Wenzel, Eber Simpson, Taylor, Nelson, Kreuz, McCrory, Payton, Pladdes.

Albright, Edler, Fuller, Bondi and Vaughn.

ROWLAND TO HAVE HARD JOB PICKING CATCHERS.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, March 29.—Manager Rowland of the White Sox has a heavy job on his hands in choosing his catching staff, say reports from Mineral Wells, Tex. Ray Schalk, of course is sure of his job, and it seems likely that Jack Lapp, because of his great experience, will be retained, but the manager wants only three. This means that Walter Mayer, Ray Shook and Byrd Lynn, will have to battle between themselves. Lynn and Shook are youngsters, and have shown a great deal of class at the training camp. The veteran pitchers on the club say that Lynn is almost sure of becoming a regular. Mayer who has been Schalk's understudy for the past few years, also has shown himself to be a backstop of some class, and may deprive the youngsters of their chances of becoming regulars.

Joe Jackson, heavy hitting outfielder of the White Sox, has purchased a home in Savannah, Ga. He paid $7,000 for the house and turned it over to his mother until he returns from the 1916 world series in the fall.

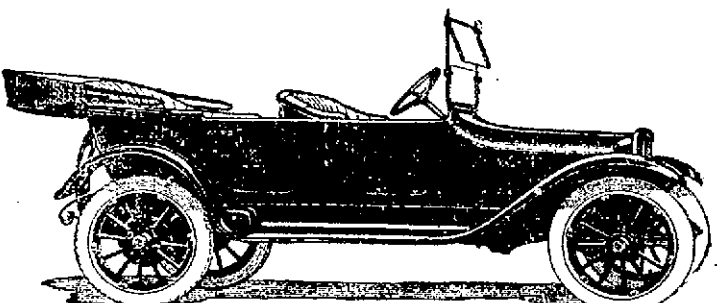

Charley Ferguson, the University of Michigan pitcher, who is regarded as ranking next to George Stier as star, will not report to the Philadelphia Athletics, having decided to forsake baseball for the practice of law in his home town of Wayne, W. Va.

FOODS THEY BUILD OR DESTROY

Amazing but rarely suspected truths about the things you eat.

By ALFRED W. McCANN (Copyright, 1916, by Alfred W. McCann.)

CHAPTER 40.

Rice, scoured and polished, is food for the hospital or the poor. It will not support life. Robbed of white flour is robbed, rice is responsible for many preventable diseases.

As we gather up the shattered fragments of the wheat bread superstition that has endured so long unchallenged among the millions of the denatured wheat eater, we may catch in fancy the murmur of a voice. Among them we can recognize a chorus in which the million-fives hundred thousand children under ten years of age who died in the United States during the past four years are crying:

"Why, the ghosts of babies are parading the night, pulling down from their high niches in the darkness whatever symbols of disease and death we find."

A few of the skinny finger points to a statue of starch. It is the finger of bloodless fraud. As we pull the hood down we see that it is labeled "Polished Rice."

Americans have ever eaten rice as nature intended them to eat it. The beautiful grain, midway between cream color and light brown in hue, with a flavor that the polished rice has never tasted, has been banished from the United States for many years.

The robbed substitute is the brushed, scoured, polished and sometimes talcum coated grain of commerce, so degraded and denatured by the milling processes through which it passes that when fed to the fowls of the barnyard it brings about their death in seven weeks.

Few of the natural, unrefined grain containing all the elements with which nature has endowed it, the creatures of the barnyard thrive indefinitely.

The "innocent" bowl of rice, as we now scour and polish it, served to the growing child and the convalescent struggling desperately upward out of an abyss of disease, will not support life. It will have robbed it as we rob the wheat.

No, this is not the cry of an alarmist. Behold the facts.

In the Philippine Islands a disease called acidosis, or beriberi, has wiped away countless thousands.

We have similar diseases in the United States, but we call them infantile anemia, neurasthenia, nervous prostration, general breakdown, etc. but of acidosis, beriberi, or one stage to another through all of these experiences. Its name neither adds to nor detracts from its ability to destroy. Those who encounter it die of the disease.

Dr. V. G. Heiser in the year 1910, then director of health of the Philippine Islands; Dr. Fraser of Singapore; Dr. Aaron of the Philippine Medical School; Dr. Hight of Siam; and Dr. DeHaan of Java produced evidence that showed conclusively that acidosis, or beriberi, is caused by a diet of polished rice, such as is consumed in the United States. As early as 1905 Dr. Donald McCasky had noted the ravages which follow a diet of polished rice.

Polished rice does not introduce some mysterious germs into the body. It simply starves the blood and tissues until they no longer offer a defense to any germ.

With resistance broken and immunity destroyed, the result of inadequate nourishment, pathogenic organisms take up their residence in the weakened tissues of the body, and grow and multiply until disorder ensues.

During January and February, 1910, another of the many outbreaks of acidosis among the inmates of the Coulton Leper Colony aroused the interest of the little group of physicians named above.

The disease resisted all medical treatment. It was noted that the lepers were striving to maintain life upon a diet of polished rice. As an experiment the polished rice was discontinued and the natural grain substituted.

The sick in the hospital were fed with the rice polishings that had been removed from the polished grain. Rice polishings are the outer layers of the rice that give to the grain its light creamish brown color.

The snow whiteness consists principally of starch; the powder contains the phosphorus compound, and other mineral salts, ferments, vitamins, and nitrogenous products which are brushed, scoured and polished away in order to make the grain pleasing to the delicate eyes of pale women and children.

On a sixty days diet of the natural grain, to which the rice polishings had been added, the spread of the disease was interrupted and complete cures established. Yet, not one of the 100 children under ten years of age who died in the United States that year could find a pound of that natural brown rice in all the land.

Still the medical profession needed more evidence that this to convince it that when man denatures his food by refining processes he destroys its ability to counter upon him immunity to disease.

So Dr. Fraser of the Straits Settlements Medical School set about to prove that when man brushes away the rice polishings away the phosphorus compounds and other organic minerals are present in the pericarp of natural brown rice he robs the human family of its requisite supply of these elements.

After this fact had been demonstrated to the satisfaction of the physicians in the Far East it was again experimentally confirmed in chickens and later in human beings.

Finally two groups of railway workers in the Straits Settlements were employed as a poison squad. The group of men that partook of polished white Siam rice of best quality developed beriberi within a period of approximately sixty days, while the group that partook of the unpolished rice remained free of the disease.

Perhaps when you learn what happened during that period of sixty days you will feel disposed to heed the character and quality of the food upon which your children subsist. Perhaps you will come to the conclusion that behind the processes of nutrition there is indeed a law.

serve the needs of the forty odd thousand native Mexicans who live in and about the city. The Government is a partisan in backing their factional interests and several have very fair reputations.

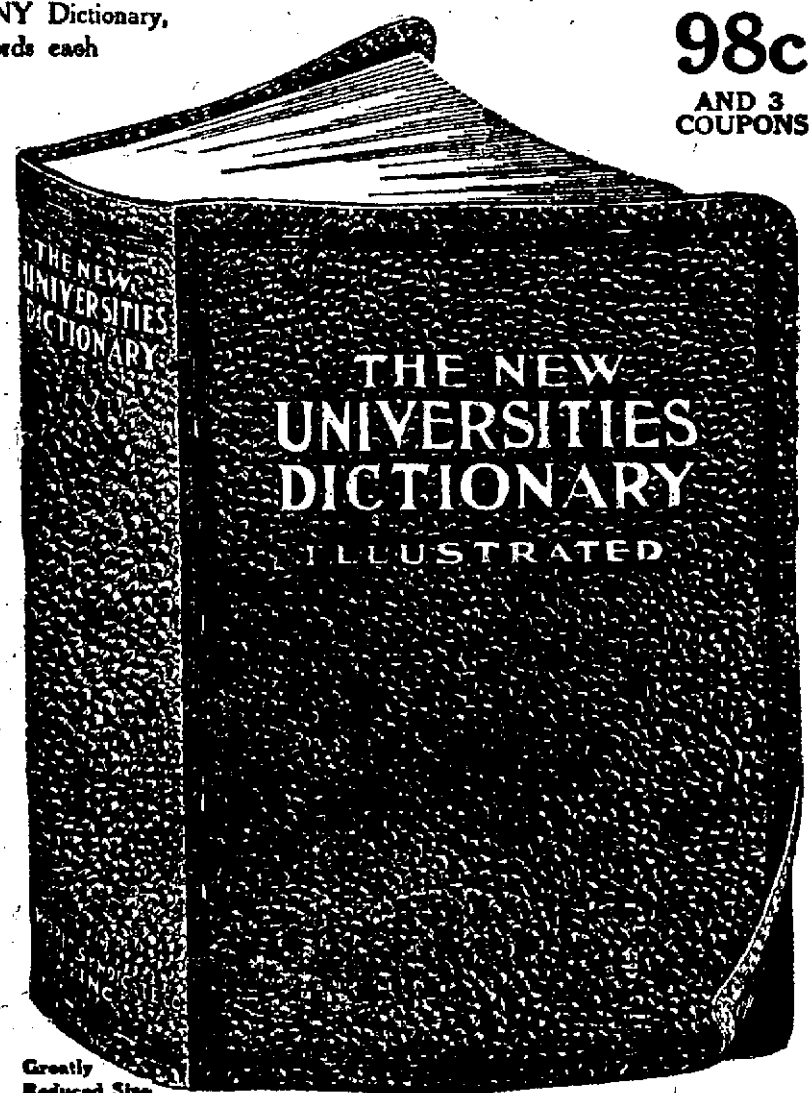

“Eating Crow.”

The term “eating crow” comes from a ante-Revolutionary story. A soldier of an English regiment stationed in Virginia shot a pet crow belonging to a farmer. The latter entered a complaint with the colonel, who sentenced the soldier to eat the crow. The farmer was left alone with the soldier to decide that he had eaten the crow. The soldier had consumed a portion of the bird but took his gun, presented it at the farmer and told him to eat the remainder of the crow or he would shoot him. This is the origin of the eating crow story.

Announce Their Grand Spring Opening

Friday and Saturday, March 31 and April 1

Portraying Authentic and Exclusive Styles
In Women's and Misses' Spring and Summer Apparel.

Never before such an array of charming Coat and Suit styles.

A fascinating collection of beautiful
Street and Afternoon Dresses.

An elaborate exhibit of stunning
Evening Gowns and Wraps.

A most enchanting display of Blouses in every popular material and style.

Although "style" has been of paramount consideration in selecting the many handsome garments for our spring display, economy has never been lost sight of. Every garment at every price shows a full measure of intrinsic value.

Besides the elaborate display of apparel, we have clothed every section of The Big Store in its best spring opening attire.

A Wealth of Beautiful Dress Fabrics

All of fashion's newest and most favored Wool and Silk and Wool fabrics are ready for your inspection. You will wonder at the marvelous weaves and colorings.

The Brilliant Silks

Will undoubtedly elicit many exclamations of delight, for no woman could look upon their beauty and refrain from voicing her admiration and her endorsement of their charm.

An Endless Display of Pretty Wash Fabrics

Our assortment surpasses anything we have ever shown, and includes an unusual choice assortment of high grade novelties in exclusive weaves and colorings.

Gloves, Neckwear and Veils

For our opening we have collected a number of dainty accessories that will be of interest to fashionable women. The new and desirable neckwear in endless variety, Veils and dependable gloves are represented. A display that we have every reason to be proud of.

SECOND FLOOR. Be sure and visit this department when in the store. Everything new and desirable in CARPETS, RUGS, CURTAINS, DRAPERIES and BEDDING is here. The display alone is worth coming miles to see.

You are cordially invited to inspect the matchless assortments in the twenty-eight departments of The Big Store. There is no obligation to purchase and we shall deem it a pleasure to show you the new spring merchandise.

The store and windows will be beautifully decorated for the occasion. Music Friday afternoon, Saturday afternoon and evening.

Everybody Will Be Made Most Welcome
